

Our commitment is to guarantee compliance with applicable environmental legislation and regulations, in addition to all the standards and requirements that Salmones Camanchaca subscribes to. To achieve this, we have implemented standardized procedures for comprehensive environmental management focused on continuous improvement in all operations related to our production process, including:

- Production operations in farms, fish farms and processing plants or all our products
- Distribution and logistics
- Waste management
- Suppliers, service providers and contractors
- Other key business partners (for example, non-managed, joint venture partners, licensees, outsourcing partners, etc.)
- Due diligence, mergers and acquisitions

We set goals and objectives in order to minimize and avoid, as much as possible, the environmental impact generated by our activity, producing responsibly and properly managing the waste we generate.

We have the necessary resources to fulfill this commitment, which entails guaranteeing the sustainability of the business and the continuous improvement of the entire production chain.

We adhere to the commitment to continuous improvement of the company's performance through the environmental implementation of measures to measure, mitigate and prevent damage to the environment, which is led by the company's Environment area, who ensure the implementation of the improvements and ensure compliance with national and voluntary regulations registered by the company.

Our commitment has the active supervision of the Salmones Camanchaca Board of Directors and Sustainability Committee, which is made up of the company's senior management.

Salmones Camanchaca seeks to raise awareness among all internal and external stakeholders about our environmental management and the impacts of the activity through training for company employees and in meetings established with the communities.
